

MIDSTREAM

Bracewell is familiar with the operational aspects of the midstream oil and gas business, including transactions involving interstate and intrastate pipelines, terminal facilities, processing plants, gathering systems and natural gas storage. We help pipeline companies form joint ventures and acquire and sell pipeline systems and processing and treatment plants. Our attorneys provide comprehensive due diligence on pipeline mergers, acquisitions and asset sales.

We advise pipeline companies on day-to-day operations and business problems, including crude oil, natural gas, liquids and gas marketing contracts. Our oil and gas attorneys are experienced with the complexities of interconnect, exchange, and terminaling agreements that cover the processing, gathering, and transportation of natural gas and petroleum products by pipeline, truck, train and barge. We also facilitate the construction and operation of jointly owned pipelines and the creati