

INSURANCE LITIGATION

Since the earliest years of the firm, Bracewell has represented insurance companies and customers in virtually every form of civil litigation, administrative dispute and coverage conflict. These matters have ranged from simple vehicular accidents to multimillion-dollar commercial and personal injury lawsuits. We have handled disputes and enforcement actions involving insurance companies and state, federal and international regulatory agencies across the United States. We also advise clients in reinsurance matters involving companies with a presence in Europe, including Lloyds of London syndicates, P&I Clubs and American insurers.

First-party claims

We represent insurers in first-party litigation and enforcement actions initiated by individual insureds, corporate policyholders, class-action claimants and state insurance regulatory agencies. We handle matters including allegations of bad faith, breach of contract, violations of state in
