

RENEWABLE ENERGY

Strength in Renewable Energy

Bracewell has substantial capabilities in facilitating wind energy installations and transactions and assisting clients with other alternative renewable energy sources, including biomass, ethanol, geothermal, hydroelectric and solar. Our renewable energy team counsels clients in almost every aspect of the renewable energy market, including project development, project acquisition, construction and operation & maintenance agreements, tax planning and tax credits, financing, power sales and marketing agreements, international transactions, and legislative and administrative advocacy both at the federal and state level. Our clients include North America's leading developers of wind power projects, the largest U.S. utility owner of renewable energy operations, one of the world's major integrated energy multinationals, the world's only publicly-traded company investing solely in renewable energy facilities, the leading