

MIDDLE EAST

Bracewell & Giuliani's Middle East practice provides a full array of corporate and transactional services to multinational corporations, governmental entities, state-owned enterprises and global financial institutions doing business in the region. From our centrally located office in Dubai, we represent domestic and foreign clients engaged in a wide range of industries, including energy exploration and production, infrastructure projects and defense contracts, among other products and services.

We have advised clients in engagements throughout the Middle East, including the United Arab Emirates and other Gulf Cooperation Council States of Oman, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Bahrain, and Kuwait, as well as nearby jurisdictions such as Libya. Our attorneys have a clear understanding of the complex geopolitical realities of the region. This knowledge has been developed through extensive, first-hand experience as legal and business counselors, and through leadership positions in
