

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT RELATIONS AND ADVOCACY

For more than three decades, Bracewell & Giuliani's Washington, D.C. office has helped clients get their voices heard – and heeded – in our nation's capital.

From the halls of Congress and the Executive offices of the White House to the hearing rooms of government agencies and the pressrooms (and chatrooms) of the Fourth Estate, we advise and advocate for our clients on a wide range of issues, including:

- Appropriations matters
- Legislative and regulatory strategies
- Draft legislation and regulation review
- Issue positioning
- Executive branch and Congressional advocacy
- Government contracts positioning
- Agency comments
- Regulatory challenges
- Political counseling
- Strategic communications

In government relations matters, the shortest distance between goal and achievement is not always a straight line. Our Government Relations team prepares a custom roadmap for each cl