

LITIGATION

Bracewell & Giuliani meets the dispute-resolution needs of large national and multinational corporations, mid-sized companies, small businesses and individuals. We represent clients at every phase of the trial process, from pre-litigation negotiation through jury trial, bench trial, and appeal. We also pursue mediation, arbitration and other alternative-dispute resolution techniques, when these options enable us to meet our clients' business objectives.

Our attorneys provide:

- Real, extensive courtroom experience
- Comprehensive representation for defendants and plaintiffs in virtually all forms of commercial disputes, in state and federal courts nationwide
- Extensive experience in complex matters and specialized forums involving international arbitration, appeals and class actions
- In-depth knowledge of industry-specific issues in the construction, energy, finance, healthcare and real estate sectors, among others.
