From our office in Dallas, Texas, Bracewell & Giuliani serves national and multinational corporations, municipalities and universities. We have particular experience representing financial services companies, telecommunications providers, technology companies and public and private educational institutions in all areas of banking, finance, real estate, litigation, labor and employment, bankruptcy and restructuring, corporate, and public and school law.

Bracewell & Giuliani opened our Dallas office in 1989. In September 2006, the office moved to the I.M. Pei-designed Fountain Place, one of the most iconic features of the Dallas skyline. This new location provides state-of-the-art technology, meeting facilities and a full-service business center, all which enable our clients and attorneys to conduct business effectively and efficiently.
